Career In Traffic Engineering for Minority Students

Minority high school students will be encouraged to consider a career in traffic and transportation engineering under an innovative program developed by the Institute of Transportation Engineers (ITE). Funded by a $78,600 contract from the U.S. Department of Transportation's Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA), the ITE also will encourage professional traffic engineering firms to seek and hire minority engineers.

The one-year project, starting January 1, 1976 is being conducted by ITE (formerly the Institute of Traffic Engineers) and monitored by UMTA's Offices of Civil Rights and Transit Planning. It will include these tasks:

1) Development and implementation of a program at the high school level in cities around the country whereby students, aided by local ITE members, will solve real traffic problems in their own neighborhoods. By aiming at this age group, ITE hopes to interest students in traffic engineering and encourage them to elect the necessary math and science courses needed to prepare for an engineering education.

2) Development and implementation of new courses and special information programs in traffic and transportation engineering at engineering colleges with significant minority enrollments.

3) Development and implementation of a two-pronged information campaign about the ITE's program so other groups of professional engineers, planners and public administrators can learn and adapt the ITE activities to their own use. Career guidance materials aimed at minority students also will be published and distributed.

Traffic and transportation engineering--dealing with the planning, design, operations and maintenance of urban street networks and the movement of people and goods--is concerned with problems frequently found where minority groups live. The profession has a significant impact on inner city land use activities as well as on the various transportation modes.

Despite the potential impact on minority neighborhoods, however, there are very few minority people in transportation engineering. Greater input from minority engineers could lead to more responsive and acceptable programs for a unified and coordinated urban transportation system as part of comprehensively planned urban development.

UMTA's funding of this ITE program is part of the effort by the entire engineering profession, industry and government to increase the number of minority engineering graduates each year from 500 to 5,000 in a period of 10 years.

The program also will enable potential UMTA grantees to more easily meet Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 by increasing the likelihood that minority engineers and planners will be available to participate in planning activities and will assure greater opportunities for minority business enterprises when grantees are soliciting for consultant assistance on transit projects.

Charity Organizations Give Food To Needy

by M. C. Connally, Jr.

The last of November was the beginning for the Hilltop Multi-Service Center to start seeking funds and donations for at least 50 Christmas baskets. The baskets were given to the families in need of food for the holidays.

Through the help of Mr. Flethcher Jenkins and the Downtown Tacoma Boys' Club, Rev. M. C. Connally Jr. of the Ministers' Alliance, and the Minority Concerns Task Force, Hilltop was able to receive enough funds to make up 60 food baskets.

Each basket contained: chicken or turkeys, potatoes, vegetables, cranberry sauce, jello and bread. Families with children also received candy, fruit and nuts. Enough food for a complete dinner.

The staff of Hilltop--Rev. William Mitchell, Juanita Butler, and Lee Kolbas--obtained, received funds and put together these baskets with a special thanks to Fred Gatewood who volunteered and spent many hours assisting in the Christmas Basket Project.

This year Hilltop Multi-Service Center, Tacoma Ministers' Alliance, and Minority Concern Task Force joined together to make Christmas a little more pleasant by donating 60 baskets of food for families in need of food for the holidays.

The Christmas Basket Project has been in effect since 1963.

Our program has been keyed to helping and assisting the less fortunate in the areas of employment, education, housing, clothing, furniture, transportation, emergency food, counseling and other services.

Widows Meet

The Society of Military Widows will held their meeting on January 2nd at the McChord NCO club. It will be a get-together meeting to air grievances and try to find ways to overcome them.

News From TCC

FREE COURSES FOR SENIORS

Senior citizens can register for free courses at Tacoma Community College starting Thursday, January 8.

The TCC Board of Trustees recently approved the tuition waiver for all state residents over sixty years old on a space available basis.

The only charge is an administrative fee of $2.50 per course. Senior citizens cannot take more than two courses per quarter without paying tuition.

Robert Thaden, associate dean of admissions, records and financial aid, reports that there are several classes in whic space is available for senior citizens.

Some are: history, foreigh languages, a night course in psychology, the social sciences and math.

For further information, senior citizens can call the admissions office at 756-5035 or come in person to the office in building six.

TUMBLING CLASSES FOR YOUNGSTERS

Tumbling classes for youngsters aged ten through 14 will be offered at Tacoma Community College winter quarter.

Sessions will be taught by Cam Kerst, physical education teacher in the Tacoma area for the last four years.

Classes will start Saturday, January 11, in the TCC gym. Beginners will meet at 9 a.m. and intermediate tumblers at 10:30 a.m. Cost of the eight week course is $12.

To register call the TCC admissions office at 756-5035.

Ms. Kerst graduated from Washington State University in 1971 with a degree in physical education and minors in health and phychology. She is a Puyallup resident.

URBAN LEAGUE GETS $5.1 MILLION TO PREPARE 2,877 FOR SKILLED TRADES

$144,010 Earmarked for Tacoma

URBAN LEAGUE CONTRACT--Secretary of Labor John T. Dunlop (seated left) and Vernon E. Jordan, executive director, National Urban League (NUL), sign a one-year $5.1 million contract extending the NUL's 30-city training program for disadvantaged minority youths and semiskilled workers in the building and construction trades. Looking on, from left, are Robert O. Aders, undersecretary of labor; Ronald Brown, director NUL Washington Bureau; William H. Kolberg, assistant secretary of labor for employment and training; Napoleon Johnson, director, labor Education and Advancement Program, NUL; Mahlon Puryear, director, economic development, NUL; and Robert McConnon director, Office of National Programs Employment & Training Admin., U.S. Labor Dept.

WASHINGTON -- A total of 2,877 disadvantaged minority youth and semiskilled construction workers will be prepared for building and construction trades jobs by the National Urban League (NUL) under a $5,179,468 contract with the U.S. Department of Labor.

Secretary of Labor John T. Dunlop announced the contract award at a signing ceremony in hos office with Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., executive director of the NUL.

The New York-based organization will conduct the outreach program in 31 cities through the League's affiliate chapters.

The new contract continues for another year an apprenticeship and journeyman outreach program the NUL has conducted since 1967 with $20.4 million in Federal funding from the Employment and Training Administration Administration (formerly the Manpower Administration) to place 15,470 trainees.

League chapters are expected to place about 2,560 youth in apprenticeship programs after 10 weeks of intensive tutuoring. The classes are keyed to apprenticeship examination announcements in specific construction trades. Many of the tutors are craftsmen from the various trades.

About 317 semiskilled construction workers will also be prepared for higher skilled jobs in the building and construction trades.

Under the contract, six cities yet to be selected will be added to the nine cities currently conducting pilot projects for the recruitment and placement of women in apprenticeship. The pilot program for women was begun in 1974 and 196 women have been placed thus far.

This program is a cooperative effort of labor, management, and the minority community. Participants are recruited through local state employment service offices, construction industry management and labor groups, and community action agencies.

A listing by city of apprentice and journeyman-training placement goals and funds apportioned under the new NUL contract indicates that Tacoma will receive $144,010 as its share.

Something To Think About

The year 1976 seemed so far away, but now it's right at our doorsteps looking us straight in the face. And many of us just play it off. We just don't realize that this new year symbolizes change--a change in ourselves. Perhaps it means breaking a bad habit or giving yourself a serious looking at and seeing what you're all about.

Make this brand new year into a brand new you. Welcome the fresh year with love and kindness. Try being a bit more considerate and respectful to your Black brothers and sisters and always remember that it's another year of the struggle. We've made it this far--stay together through the year '76. What course of action are we as Black people going to take this new year?

It should be a year of total unity. All Black brothers and sisters should have a family reunion. Right on. I wish all my people a VERY HAPPY NEW YEAR!

The Continental Walk For Disarmament and Social Justice

On January 4th, War Resisters League/War Tax Resistance will hold an afternoon workshop/festival on non-violent resistance as an alternative to reliance on mass violence for security and social resulution; to express solidarity with the Continental Walk for Disarmament and Social Justice. The walk will leave San Francisco January 31, 1976 for Washington, D.C. The walk is expected to arrive in Washington sometime in October, 1976.

The Workshop/Festival will be held at the Immanuel Lutheran Church, 1215 Thomas. The schedule, which begins at 1:30 p.m. and continues 'til 6:00 p.m. will include music, workshops, films, demonstrations, and sharing of ideas.

The schedule was chosen to coincide with a caravan of walkers and supporters leaving from Vancouver, B.C. on January 1st, en route to San Francisco for the beginning of the main walk on January 31. Similar activities are planned in other communities along the route to San Francisco. These activities are focusing on the theme of the Continental Walk which calls for "unilateral disarmament and a reordering of America's priorities toward meeting domestic and global human needs". Supporters of the walk feel that it is fitting in 1976, the year of the Bicentennial, that we as residents of this country should lead the way in demonstrating that peace and disarmament are in our interest and the interest of all humankind. The urgency of disarmament is seen in light of the massive nuclear arms build-up around the globe, especially in the United States, as a means of security and social resolution. War Resisters League believes that not only must we call for disarming on a national and international level, but also a disarming on a personal level. "If we can all begin to respond truthfully to the inner violence in each of us, then we can also respond to mass violence around us."

Participants are invited to join for all or part of the activities. Childcare will be provided.

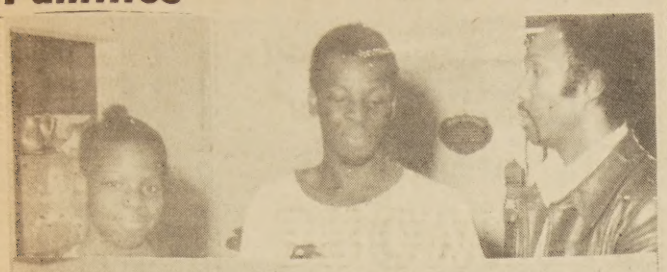
Club Gives Turkeys To Needy Families



On December 23rd the Caballeros Club gave out turkeys to some of the needy people in the area. They gave away about 15 Christmas turkeys in all.

Avoiding Problems Through an Educational Approach

Life is filled with constant change which demands continuing growth. The old adage "people just know naturally how to live together" is a myth. Most people react to one another the way they saw their parents and others respond, without knowing this is learned and can be changed. Small, common irritations grow into overwhelming burdens because people do not know how to solve everyday problems.

Family and Child Service has developed an educational program to help people learn how to prevent ordinary stresses from becoming high obstacles in life. It helps people learn they have a choice and can make changes in themselves and their relationships with family, friends, and fellow employees. As you clear problems there is more time and energy for growth and enjoyment.

The program includes educational and growth groups for men, women, couples and families. Starting in mid-January, the groups will be offered on a four to eight week basis, and will be available through summer.

A wide variety of groups will be held, some of which include: parent effectiveness training, marriage enrichmant, growth groups for women, assertiveness training for women, assertiveness training for men, a Black male adult group, and a one-day "Family Check-Up."

It is hoped that these groups can teach a more effective means of handling problems as they first arise, thereby preventing the kinds of chain reactions that lead to individual and/or family crises.

There are fees for the groups based on income. Many of the classes have free introductory sessions that allow individuals to become acquainted with what the group is offering with out making any commitments.

The groups will be held in various locations throughout Seattle and the surrounding area. A free calendar listing the winter schedule can be obtained or for more information call Dawn Simon at Family and Child Service (447-3883).

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

ON THE RIGHT TRACK

by Richard M. DeVos
President
Amway Corporation

The economy of our nation can be compared to a train running down a track. Business is the engine pulling other cars, including government, education, employment, toward economic growth.

On any train there is a caboose. Throughout life, there are those who bring up the rear, at times through no fault of their own. While there are still inequities in our society, I disagree with those who would stop the engine to allow the caboose to catch up. It's the engine up front that provides the energy. If it stops, the caboose stops, too.

Only through the strength of the engine does the rest of the train progress, just as in our society, the production of business marks the economic progress of the nation. Our 200th birthday finds us closer to solving the inequities of the past. Today we have the production capabilities to improve the general quality of life to unprecedented heights.

But such a dream can only run on performance, not on wishes. We must support, not slow down, the engine as it chugs into the future, our future. We must re-dedicate ourselves to those aspects of the free-enterprise system that have made us great.

As part of the Bicentennial celebration, the more than 200,000 independent Amway distributors are circulating copies of the Declaration of Independence for signature by today's Americans. By signing, we reaffirm our faith in the values and ideals that have allowed us to prosper. To sign, call your Amway distributor, listed in the white or yellow pages of the telephone directory, or write: Amway, 7575 E. Fulton Rd., Ada, Michigan 49355. Join the believers and let's move ahead. Remember, Will Rogers said, "Even if you're on the right track, you'll get run over if you just sit there."
